Respond Quicker and Smarter
DURING FAST-MOVING SITUATIONS WITH OMNIGO COMMAND
AND PLANNING

According to the CDC's 2016 Results from the School Health Policies and Practices Study, 65.3% of schools surveyed has procedures in place for responding to infectious disease outbreaks and only 43.8% had procedures for ensuring the continuity of education during unplanned school closure. Four years later, in 2020, schools without these plans in place would become very aware of the necessity of comprehensive emergency planning and preparedness.

The need for preplanning in k-12 and higher education institutions cannot be understated, regardless of incident size or complexity, including athletic events, acts of violence, or infectious disease outbreaks.

Using Omnigo Command and Planning, powered by Rhodium, schools, agencies, and officers can automate and intelligently handle a range of security and regulation challenges unique to campuses. Proactively address the multiple facets of security from threat detection and violence prevention to response during fast-moving situations.

PLAN	RESPOND	RECOVER
Relieve manual workload with a centralized location for all documentation and ICS forms	Manage events live and quickly communicate and collaborate with all necessary stakeholders.	Respond tactically in recovery mode, and easily view analytics to prepare for the next event

PLAN

When it comes to fast-moving and critical situations, time is of the essence. Too many schools are still relying on outdated, cumbersome binders, word docs, and shared folders – intensifying the manual workload and potential for error.

Command and Planning makes it easy for users to create unlimited plans for any event – from the most mundane to the worst-case scenario. With one centralized location for all information, stakeholders can easily access event management information.

Stop Wasting Time with Paper-Based Solutions	Reduce Time Spent on ICS Forms	Help Ensure a Safer Community
Quickly access and create custom fields, map tools, file attachments, ICS forms, and checklists and access all of the data from virtually any device	Collaborate on IAPs from multiple devices or locations and pre-plan reusable ICS forms for buildings, call types, and special events	Easily create and activate plans for occupancies, planned events, and incident types and easily pre-plan data from the command screen.

RESPOND

When every second counts, you don't have a moment to waste while responding to an event. Command and Planning allows users to manage events live and quickly share information with necessary stakeholders.

Increase Security with Robust Mapping Features	Enable Superior Communication and Increase Response Time	Enhance Safety by Accessing Info Anywhere in the Field
Design and save reusable mapping layers and easily view pre-planned layers, ad-hoc markup, manual tasks, and GPS tracked resources	Track and record what's happening in every area and see it all in one place – including where your staff is at all times	Access your account and incident information from any device with a web connection and easily document security checks and flag suspicious items, people, or situations while in the field

RECOVER

The work done post-event can be just as important as the steps taken during the incident. Command and Planning makes it easy to respond tactically in recovery mode and know exactly what's been done, how it's been done, and what you still need to do. Analytics automatically collected during the incident allow you to make more informed decisions when adjusting existing IAP and writing ICS forms.
